

SPRINGFIELD

Farmer's market resumes

Looking for a friendly place to find fresh fruit and vegetables, arts and crafts and healthy food for lunch? Stop by the farmers' market at Springfield Technical Community College, which will be open for business on Wednesdays through Nov. 14.

The market will be situated between Buildings 2 and 13. Vendors will offer their goods for sale between 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

"We are looking forward to another season at STCC. The Farmers' Market is a terrific opportunity for students and area residents to purchase healthy, affordable food in a convenient location," said market manager Tammy T. Ryan.

The market, a collaboration between the college and community organizations, offers fruits and vegetables that come from locally owned farms. The market also features music and vendors selling jewelry, lunches and flowers.

Vendors accept cash, credit and debit cards, Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), Women, Infants and Children (WIC) and elder coupons.

The state Healthy Incentives Program will allow SNAP recipients to receive a dollar-for-dollar match credited to their EBT cards on farmer's market purchases.

The vendors for the market include City Compost, Curb-side Cantina, Gardening the Community, Granny's Place,
